CARE

Travertine is a natural stone material, which means that every slab varies in terms of vein pattern and color. Travertine has an open surface, which means that if water is left on the surface for a period, it can leave marks. Therefore, we recommend using coasters for items that can leave marks and stains.

Extended exposure to the outdoors can lead to color changes and staining. During the winter season, we advise covering the tables with a waterproof cover or storing them indoors.

With its minimalist square shape, the Cubism table intentionally directs the viewer's attention to the intrinsic qualities of a material that possesses its own life and character.

Available in two sizes and two varieties of travertine colors, the Cubism table serves multiple purposes, such as a coffee table, side table, plinth for exhibiting objects or as a display in stores. As a natural stone, each slab differs in vein pattern and color, creating distinct variations for every table.
